Conference for Youth Changemaking 2.0 – What does it mean to be a changemaker, and how might changemakers address local issues?

Please join us for a day of workshops that focus on social innovation and youth changemaking.

We invite students from the greater Los Angeles area who are creating positive impacts in their communities, and encourage educators who are supporting their students' efforts to attend as well.

The day culminates with a showcase of student projects, highlighting how students across L.A. tackle these complex issues with innovative solutions, thoughtful consideration, and deep perspective. Parents are welcome to attend.
